

Carlton Oaks Golf Course

document.write("");

Besides being a challenging and fun 7,225 yard Dye-Designed golf course at a very fair and reasonable green fee, Carlton Oaks Country Club is one of the most centrally located golf courses in San Diego. It is literally no more than a 20 - 35 minute ride from just about any direction. Their knowledgeable and friendly staff and experienced PGA Golf Instructors complement this landmark course. Big, huge oak trees, 3 lakes, 2 streams, pot bunkers...and of course, those signature Dye railroad ties makes this both a fair and challenging course for golfers of all abilities to play from any one of the 5 sets of tee boxes. Over the years they have hosted all the big name tournaments - U.S. Open Qualifiers, PGA Qualifiers, NCAA Championships and both U.S. and Canadian Tour School Qualifiers. Most of San Diego's College and High School Golf Teams include Carlton Oaks on their "must play" circuit too. In the celebrity spotlight, Carlton Oaks can also lay claim to the distinction of being the San Diego golf course where Phil Mickelson received his golf instruction and played over and over developing his well-proven golf skills. Three well-known and experienced PGA Instructors continue teaching locals and visiting golfers those same fundamentals and advanced skills. Two chipping and putting greens, a practice range, a well-stocked Pro Shop, Restaurant and Lodge round-out the facilities and amenities you will find a Carlton Oaks Country Club.
